Nowadays, the awareness of adequate protein intake is increasing as a part of healthy lifestyle trend. Dairy products are one of the main source to fulfil the needs for protein, consisted of whey and caseinate which used either in combination or separated form to enrich the consumed products. Whey protein isolate has 90% protein content that could be applied to many food categories to meet the market demand, i.e. in beverage, snack, bakery products, RTE, et cetera. As we often meet high protein content in beverages, we present another idea by adding whey protein from MilkSpecialties in cookies. In addition to this fortification, natural colorants from EXBERRY® are utilized to bring vibrant color to the healthy snacking experience.
